INTRODUCTION

Darling I Do came about from a desire to create a solution for couples who wanted to make the process of getting married simpler, whilst not compromising on the quality and wow factor that should come from one of the most memorable days of your life.

Francie Ellis, founder of Blume and Darling, has been creating stunning and effortless weddings since 2015 and has had the pleasure of working with weddings on both an intimate and large scale. Her experience has allowed her the insight to know what works when it comes to intimate weddings and her connections have allowed her to create such a unique service.

Darling I Do is New Zealand's fresh, modern take on "pop up weddings" by offering a light and visually stunning celebration that is carefully curated to suit your venue by an award-winning team of talented vendors.

The Darling I Do difference is that we don't create replicated weddings as is typical with other pop up weddings, we create a day uniquely the two of you so your personality can shine throughout the day.
